Midterm Practice Worksheet

Pronoun Agreement and Point of View · Misplaced and Dangling Modifiers · Reading Strategies

Name: _____ Section: _____ Date: _____

Part 1: Pronoun Agreement and Point of View

Exercise 1: Choose the correct pronoun from the brackets.

1. Neither of the boys remembered _____ ticket. (his / their)
2. The committee has made _____ decision. (its / their)
3. Neither of the sisters brought _____ passport. (her / their)
4. Somebody left _____ phone on the desk. (his or her / their)
5. The team celebrated _____ victory. (its / their)
6. Each of the laptops has _____ own charger. (its / their)
7. Anyone who wants a refund must show _____ receipt. (his or her / their)
8. The board of directors announced _____ new policy. (its / their)
9. One of the actors forgot _____ lines. (his or her / their)
10. Both of the managers submitted _____ reports. (his or her / their)

Exercise 2: Rewrite each sentence to correct the pronoun error. Write C if the sentence is already correct.

1. Each of the students submitted their project early.
2. The company changed their return policy last year.
3. Neither of the boys brought their laptop.
4. A good teacher always listens to their students' concerns.
5. The jury reached their verdict after three hours.
6. Every employee must wear their ID badge.
7. Either of the girls can lend you their notes.
8. The class is proud of their performance.
9. The scientists shared their findings with the press.
10. One of the cats licked its paws.

Exercise 3: Write a pronoun that keeps the point of view consistent.

1. I like studying at night because _____ can focus without distractions.
2. Students who skip class often find that _____ fall behind quickly.
3. When people visit a new city, _____ should try the local food.
4. We chose this hotel because _____ wanted to be near the beach.
5. One should always check _____ work before submitting it.
6. Employees who arrive late must tell _____ supervisor.
7. If you want to improve your writing, _____ should read daily.
8. Tourists who visit the old fort say _____ were impressed by the view.
9. When I travel by train, _____ can relax and read.
10. People who exercise regularly notice that _____ have more energy.

Exercise 4: Rewrite each sentence to fix the inconsistent point of view. Write C if it is already consistent.

1. I enjoy cooking because you can experiment with new recipes.
2. Students who study daily find that you remember more.
3. We prefer this café because you can work quietly.
4. When people travel abroad, you learn about other cultures.
5. One should always double-check the address before you leave.
6. Employees who arrive late must inform their supervisor.
7. I like living near the sea because you can swim anytime.
8. Tourists who visit the museum say they were impressed.
9. If a person wants to succeed, you must work hard.
10. Whenever people shop online, you should check the seller's reviews.

Part 2: Misplaced and Dangling Modifiers

Exercise 5: For each sentence write MM (misplaced modifier), DM (dangling modifier) or C (correct). Then rewrite the faulty sentences.

1. Walking to class, the rain soaked my notebook.
2. The waiter served pizza to the customers on paper plates.
3. She almost drove her children to school every day.
4. After finishing the exam, the classroom felt silent.
5. I saw a stray dog on my way home with a limp.
6. To get a good seat, the tickets must be booked early.
7. The teacher returned the essays to the students covered in red ink.
8. Tired and hungry, the long meeting finally ended.
9. The professor only gave two quizzes this semester.
10. Sitting on the balcony, we watched the sunset glow over the hills.

Exercise 6: Read the paragraph. Seven sentences contain a misplaced or dangling modifier. Identify them by number, classify each error (MM or DM), and rewrite them correctly.

A Day at the Science Fair

(1) Last month, our school organized a science fair for all grades. (2) Walking into the hall, colorful posters caught my eye. (3) Every group had prepared a project on a different topic. (4) My friend Hira showed us a model volcano with a smile. (5) We nearly spent two hours at the fair. (6) The judges listened carefully to each team's explanation. (7) Nervous about the questions, the speech was rushed by the first group. (8) I bought a bottle of juice from the canteen that was freshly squeezed. (9) After the winners were announced, everyone applauded. (10) To win first prize, the experiment had to be both original and accurate. (11) Our class teacher congratulated the winners standing at the front. (12) Exhausted but happy, we took the bus home.

Part 3: Reading Strategies

Passage A

Research indicates that adequate sleep is strongly associated with academic achievement. In a 2023 study of 1,200 university students, participants who slept seven to nine hours per night scored, on average, 12% higher on examinations than those who slept fewer than six hours. The authors attribute this difference to the role of sleep in memory consolidation, the process by which newly learned information is stored in long-term memory. These findings suggest that universities should consider scheduling policies that support healthy sleep patterns.

Passage B

Honestly, all-nighters are the worst idea ever. Last week I stayed up until 4 a.m. cramming for my chemistry quiz, and guess what? My brain turned to mush by lunchtime. I totally blanked on half the questions! Now I'm going to bed by 11 no matter what. Trust me, a good night's sleep beats a pile of energy drinks any day. Try it, you'll thank me later!

Exercise 7: Skimming

Spend no more than 30 seconds on each passage, then answer.

1. In one sentence, what is Passage A mainly about? _____
2. In one sentence, what is Passage B mainly about? _____

Exercise 8: Scanning

Find these details as quickly as you can.

1. How many students took part in the study? _____
2. By what percentage did the well-rested group score higher? _____
3. How many hours of sleep per night were linked to better scores? _____
4. At what time did the writer of Passage B go to bed after cramming? _____
5. What process do the authors of Passage A credit for the difference? _____
6. By what hour does the writer of Passage B now plan to be in bed? _____

Exercise 9: Summary writing

1. Summarize Passage A in two to three sentences, in your own words and without opinions.

_____

_____

_____

1. Summarize Passage B in one to two sentences.

_____

_____

_____

Exercise 10: Academic or non-academic?

Complete the table, then quote or point to one piece of evidence from each passage.

Feature	Passage A	Passage B
Type (Academic / Non-Academic)
Primary audience
Tone and style
Perspective (Objective / Subjective)
Verification process
One piece of evidence from the text		